Total Room Makeover

The Fusco family of Niskayuna wanted to update their second floor rooms for their daughter's upcoming wedding. The master bedroom, with its double entry door, is located at the top of the stairs and would be used as a setting for photographs for the bride and her entourage as they dress for this important day. The family called for Window Wear Etc.'s services to transform the master bedroom and make some minor changes to other areas on the second floor as well.

When Window Wear Etc. was put to the challenge, here are the steps we took to success:

1. We started with a beautiful silk fabric for the custom bedding and window treatment in a dainty coral floral, with soft green leaves on an eggshell background.
2. We replaced an accent wall of dated wall covering with picture frame moldings over the king size head board and over both of the night stands to create a new softer accent wall. Two different coral paint colors were used, a deeper tone for inside the boxes created depth, and the lighter coral around the boxes softened the room.
3. New plush neutral carpet with a hint of coral was installed.
4. We re-upholstered a chaise in a textured basket-weave pattern in an egg shell color, and changed the ruffled skirt to a tailored skirt to create a more formal look for the French Provincial style room.
5. We updated the window covering with a fresh new unique and timeless design.
6. We added the finishing touches with greenery and accessories for both the nightstands and the dresser.

The newly designed master bedroom created a beautiful romantic backdrop for a bride's wedding day photos, and a timeless romantic look for the owner's to enjoy for many years!

Other areas we addressed were new accessories and a new window treatment for the master bath, new bedding and window treatment in the daughter's bedroom, and a new valance for the main bath.
